MEETING OF POSTMASTERS NEXT MONTH

MEMBERS OF ASSOCIATION WILL HOLD MEETING HERE

POSTMASTER GENERAL GRANTS LEAVE OF ABSENCE TO ALL STATE POSTMASTERS TO COME TO DAYTONA.

The annual meeting of the Florida Association of Postmasters and the State League of Postmasters will be held in Daytona April 17, 18 and 19, and indications point to the most largely attended and most enthusiastic meeting of the men who handle the mails in the history of the two organizations.

Louis C. Lynch, postmaster at Gainesville, is the president of the organization and Mrs. Grace Dery Wise, of Jacksonville, is secretary. The officers have been assured there will be a large number of the state postmasters present at the convention.

Already a committee has been appointed by President L. M. Waite of the Daytona board of trade to arrange suitable entertainment for the visiting postmasters and this committee will see that nothing is left undone to make their stay in the prettiest winter resort in the world an enjoyable one. The gathering here will be one long remembered by the Florida postmasters. No program of entertainment has yet been arranged by the board of trade committee, but this will be prepared in plenty of time to have it fully perfected before the convention.

The following order, in connection with this gathering, has been issued by the postmaster general:

"Postmasters in the state of Florida are granted leave of absence for as many days, not exceeding five, as may be necessary to enable them to attend the annual convention of the Florida Association of Postmasters, to be held at Daytona, April 17, 18 and 19, 1912."

TAFT BELIEVES IN PRIMARY BUT IT SHOULD BE GUARDED

PRESIDENT TELLS MEMBERS OF BAY STATE LEGISLATURE ATTACKS ON JUDICIARY ARE SERIOUS MENACE.

BOSTON, March 18—President Taft was greeted by 3,000 persons and much cheering on his arrival here today.

In a speech before the Massachusetts legislature he characterized the recent attacks on the judiciary as "an attempt to its independence and take away from the arch of the government its keystone. The irresponsible assaults upon the courts or the constitution made by those whose statements have an influence with any part of our people, are a serious menace to enduring government."

The president said that, although he believes in primaries, he believes they should be safeguarded by effective provisions as to eligibility of voters, and penal provisions to secure honest results. He declared the informal "straw" primaries are worse than none at all.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Gilles of Wakefield, R. I., friends of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Waite, are guests at the Dayspond hotel for some time, having stopped here on their return north from a trip to Cuba and points down the East Coast. Mr. Gilles is editor of the Narragansett Times.

OUTLAWS NOW DEFY OFFICERS

FORTIFIED IN MOUNTAIN DEN GUNS SWEEP ALL APPROACHES

STATE TROOPS WITH A MACHINE GUN HAVE BEEN SENT TO DISLODGE BANDITS FROM THEIR STRONGHOLD.

HILLSVILLE, Va., March 18—Strongly fortified in Devil's Den, a stronghold in a high mountain gulch, and with their guns sweeping all the mountain slopes approaching the den, the murderous Allen gang, which shot down three court officers here last week, is today defying the state authorities.

A detachment of state troops with a machine gun has been sent to dislodge the members of the gang from their stronghold.

FLOODS ARE NOW RECEDING CONDITIONS NEARER NORMAL

CITY OF AUGUSTA, GA., WILL ASK LEGISLATURE TO APPROVE BONDS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF THE DYKES.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 18—The high water has been receding and today conditions are nearly normal. The damage done by the floods is estimated at $250,000. Sam Tansey, a negro, and another unknown negro were drowned during the flood.

The city of Augusta will ask the Georgia state legislature to approve a bond issue for $1,000,000 for the improvement of dykes, etc., to prevent damage by floods.

ONLY FINALS IN SINGLES REMAIN IN TOURNAMENT

The Dayspond tennis tournament was halted this morning because of the wet condition of the court following the hard rains of Sunday evening. The men's finals between Ben Fulls and A. Donnelly may be played off this afternoon, but because of the water on the courts it is more than probable the match will be postponed until tomorrow, when both the men's and ladies' finals in singles will be played off.

Saturday afternoon Miss Constance McConnell and A. Donnelly defeated Miss Fisher and F. Rodgers in the finals of the mixed doubles. Miss Fisher played an excellent game and it is likely that when she meets Miss McConnell for final honors in ladies' singles an exciting and close contest will be the result. It took three sets to decide the match Saturday afternoon, the scores being 6-1, 6-1, 6-2. Miss Fisher and F. Rodgers won the second set but lost the match, which was an exceedingly interesting one.

FARM LANDS AROUND HERE ARE VALUABLE

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR DAYTONA BELIEVES MAN FROM CANADA

RICH AND PRODUCTIVE FARMING LANDS IN THIS VICINITY OFFER EXCELLENT PROSPECTS TO SETTLERS.

"You cannot build large cities until the country tributary is made productive, and settled by energetic farmers," said A. T. Hepworth, of Winnipeg, Canada, to a representative of the Daily News. Continuing, Mr. Hepworth said: "Daytona has every natural advantage that should warrant the expectation of steady and constant growth. The tourist business alone is, of course, an important factor, but has its limitations, and especially so as other competing points develop and enlarge their resources for tourist accommodations. The backbone of the northwestern states is the farming communities, and consider what tremendous progress has come to Florida through development of its agricultural resources, combined with climatic advantages, attracting tourists by the hundreds of thousands. The latter feature should be only an incident. What is Daytona doing to induce settlement of the rich hammock land adjacent and tributary to the city? Many people in the north are hungering for a change from their harsh and unattractive surroundings, and are looking to Florida. Land sharks are selling them land far from transportation, and advertising places that have no reasonable chance of profitable improvement for many years. Indeed much of the land sold has no merit. Many cities in this state are entering an extensive advertising campaign. Why should Daytona not do the same?"

Mr. Hepworth remarked upon the activity of the Sanford publicity organization in placing the advantages of that section before the public, further stating that he had talked with well informed Sanford and also DeLand people who admitted the richness of our hammock lands here and suitability for raising vegetables.

A prominent land company at Sanford is now selling and advertising land over three miles from Sanford at $150 per acre and upon which a further $75 or $100 per acre must be spent for clearing, etc. Rich land here is going begging at $100 per acre and less.

"The operation of a street railway along the DeLand road would open up fine woods land no more unpromising in appearance than was much of the Sanford district in its early development stage," said Mr. Hepworth. "As settlers came in and produced, freight would doubtless be handled by a street railway company, and dividends, perhaps, would be started. At any rate it is to be hoped that Daytona proper will be favored with street railway service. No reasonable argument can be produced against its operation should capitalists be interested, although personally I would prefer to see municipal ownership and operation of a street railway. The giving away of valuable franchises by municipalities must soon become obsolete."

Concluding Mr. Hepworth said: "The movement from the farms to cities is being checked by the high cost of living. The allurement of city life and what appeared good good wages, is now offset by the higher price level of farm products, and the attractiveness of farming under more scientific operation. Let us all work to get a fair proportion for the Daytona district."

Many cities in this state are entering an extensive advertising campaign. Why should Daytona not do the same?"

Mr. Hepworth remarked upon the activity of the Sanford publicity organization in placing the advantages of that section before the public, further stating that he had talked with well informed Sanford and also DeLand people who admitted the richness of our hammock lands here and suitability for raising vegetables.

A prominent land company at Sanford is now selling and advertising land over three miles from Sanford at $150 per acre and upon which a further $75 or $100 per acre must be spent for clearing, etc. Rich land here is going begging at $100 per acre and less.

"The operation of a street railway along the DeLand road would open up flat woods land no more unpromising in appearance than was much of the Sanford district in its early development stage," said Mr. Hepworth. "As settlers came in and produced, freight could doubtless be handled by a street railway company, and dairies, perhaps, would be started. At any rate it is to be hoped that Daytona proper will be favored with street railway service. No reasonable argument can be produced against its operation should capitalists be interested, although personally I would prefer to see municipal ownership and operation of a street railway. The giving away of valuable franchises by municipalities must soon become obsolete."

Concluding Mr. Hepworth said: "The movement from the farms to cities is being checked by the high cost of living. The allurement of city life and what appeared good good wages, is now offset by the higher price level of farm products, and the attractiveness of farming under more scientific operation. Let us all work to get a fair proportion for the Daytona district."

DRESS SHIELDS HAVE BEEN RENDERED OUT OF DATE

An eminent Austrian physician first announced that offensive perspiration was the result of an abnormal, unnatural condition of the nerves which control the skin glands. This fact has since been acknowledged by the medical fraternity throughout the world, with the result that a liquid preparation was recently introduced to correct this distressing condition. It is claimed that Odor-o-no, as the remarkable new remedy is called, will do away with the need of dress shields, which do not protect clothing perfectly and which are offensive, uncomfortable, now unnecessary.

Odoro-o-no is said to be a simple antiseptic, as harmless as witch hazel, bay rum or alcohol. It penetrates the skin glands, purifies their secretion, arrests excessive perspiration, destroys all body odor, and renders dress shields unnecessary. Odor-o-no is believed to be the greatest boon ever offered men and women afflicted with excessive prspiration of arm pits or feet. Odor-o-no can be found at

GRAPE JUICE HAS UNIQUE FOOD VALUE.

Grape juice is, next to milk, the most nourishing of drinks. It will support life indefinitely when severe physical and mental exertion are avoided, and is to be preferred to milk in the early stages of typhoid and in cases of blood poisoning. Grape juice can be made at home by pressing the ripe Concord grapes, heating to a temperature of 150, sealing in air-tight jars and keeping in a cool place. Benzoate of soda was formerly used for preserving it from fermentation.

Coroner's Inquest Over Coins.

A short time ago 110 gold coins, dating from the period of the Roman occupation of Britain, were found in a bronze jar about one foot below the surface of the ground three miles from Hexham, England, on the site of the ancient Roman city of Corstopitum.

A coroner's inquest has been held to determine their ownership. The jury, however, was unable to agree as to whether the coins were treasure trove or not, the contention of the owner of the land being that the coins had been left on an ancient highway and abandoned during a raid by the Caledonians against the Romans. The coroner therefore agreed to keep the coins for a week to see if some arrangement could be made with the treasury as to their disposal.

Eccentric Will.

By the will of a French lady who died recently a farm was left to the town on condition her family vault was kept in repair; while the rest of her estate was to be divided among those attending her funeral.

The Everglades.

The region known as the Everglades of Florida is about 60 miles long by 50 miles broad, and is one vast swamp, studded with islands of from a quarter of an acre to hundreds of acres in extent. These islands are generally covered with dense thickets of shrubbery or vines, and occasionally with lofty pines and palmettos. The water is from one to six feet deep, the bottom, as a rule, covered with a growth of rank grass. During the rainy season, from July to October, the district comprised in the Everglades is practically impenetrable. The vegetable deposits of the Everglades is considered well adapted to the growth of bananas and other fruits, and when properly drained the region will undoubtedly be one of the most fertile on earth.

Great Premium Offer

THE circulation of The Gazette-News is already large but the publisher is determined to add several hundred more names to the list and in order to do so makes several offers that you cannot afford to miss.

We want to give every housewife in this country a new pair of SHEARS—not that we think you are out of shears at your home but we know that no matter how many pair of shears you have, you will appreciate a new pair, especially the Eureka Trimmer Shears, which is a superior shear in every way to the ordinary pair of shears generally used in the everyday household.

This is not a philanthropic movement on our part nor a plan to disburse charity, nor is it a scheme to force people to buying something they do not need. We have learned the value of the housewife's good will, and this will be considered by us in offering these

Eureka Bent Trimmer Shears

We have bought another gross for distribution and those who do not respond to our offer immediately may not be able to get a pair. If you want to secure a pair then you will be sure of receiving your shears. This is a very liberal offer and one that can be taken advantage of by everyone in this country, and we want readers to our paper. We believe this offer will more than satisfy the most exacting subscriber.

Send us $1.50, and six cents additional if you desire the shears mailed, and we will send you the GAZETTE-NEWS FOR ONE YEAR AND A PAIR OF THESE SHEARS ABSOLUTELY FREE. This offer applies to either new subscriptions or renewals

BEAUTIFUL SOUTHERN SKIES DESCRIBED BY ASTRONOMER

PROF. LELAND WRITES FROM SEABREEZE TO DESCRIBE BEAUTIES TO HIS FRIENDS IN THE NORTH.

That this section of the country furnishes one of the best opportunities for studying the skies, in the opinion of a man who knows, may be judged from the following clipping from the Springfield, Mass., Republican, written by Dr. Samuel Phelps Leland of this city:

"The skies of the Southland are beautiful. However, we miss the long twilights of more northern climes; but we are more than compensated for our nights of the whole year are luminous with a luster and a glory peculiarly their own. They have not the tearful tenderness of Italy's skies; but when our billows of clouds are crimsoned and haloed with a mellow light they are entrancing. Of course I speak of the skies as seen from the Atlantic coast. The depths are unsearchable. The beholder stands, as it were, on the threshold of a mysterious palace with only a hint of what lies beyond. From these mysterious depths blossom out the constellations of stars unseen in the northern skies. A new heaven opens to the observer acquainted only with the skies north of "Mason and Dixon's line," and of Canada. We are hardly far enough south to see the Southern cross, but the light from the field of stars surrounding it glows with a rich radiance in our low southern sky. This breaks on the beholder like a revelation.

"Our sunrises have no rival in any sky. Over the ocean, at dawn, frequently lies a blanket of clouds, broken into irregular billows and radiant with the luster of the new day. Behind the clouds like a ridge of water, over which burns a billowy blaze, with a thousand streaming banners climbing up the sky. A single point of light timidly sparkles out from the water followed by an intenser light, then the rounded surface of the sun rises into view — the heralding messenger of the coming day. The ocean seems to sink closer to the earth, showing more and still more of the sun where it. Then the sun itself seems pushed out of the water, but is so reluctant to leave it that it reaches down, like an inverted cone, its point still buried in the sea; and all around it — under and over it — is the radiant vapor with its blushes of amber and gold. At length the point of the cone is reluctantly drawn from the sea and the sun assumes its circular form and rises above the radiant mists like an incarnated vision of majesty and glory, and the new day is born.

"The light of early day and late afternoon never dazzles nor blinds the eyes. As a rule our skies are clear and cloudless every night, and the stars, borrowing the radiance of the sunsets and the sunrises, shine with a clearness of outline that is fascinating. The constellations are clearly defined and emphasized.

"Our sunsets are frequently more beautiful than our sunrises. When the low horizons are billowed with clouds, as very frequently occurs, the sun's light upon them makes fields of gorgeousness, displaying every color in the spectrum and changing and shifting like a kaleidoscope. These are visions of beauty that would crown the artist, copying them with immortality. And all those transforming colors, even to the minutest tint, are clearly defined against the gorgeous background of crimson and of blue.

"The sky depths disclose the constellations with such clearness that it is a pleasure to read them—poems of light engraved on the background of blue. And the sky has such a bewitching mystery in it that it is fascinating. Its depths are limitless and its silence is eloquent. In looking into it one seems transformed to some ethereal inhabitant of fairyland. He is obliged to analyze himself to recognize his identity. All in all, the skystudy in Florida is bewitching in the companionship that the student establishes with the stars."

LEISURE PROVIDED FOR.

"'Marry in haste and repent at leisure,' you know."

"Yes; but my fiancee is rich enough, so I'll have the leisure all right."

THE CONSANGUINITY OF THE HUMAN RACE

God Determined In Advance the Bounds of the Nations.

Pastor Russell Finds Great Changes Imminent Amongst the People of the World—The Barriers of Language Yielding Because of the Approach of the Divinely Appointed Times.

PASTOR RUSSELL

London, March 27.—London Tabernacle was crowded today to greet Pastor Russell. Behind him on the rostrum were the six other members of the Foreign Missions Investigation Committee, viz., Gen. W. P. Hall, United States Army; Prof. F. H. Robison, Dr. L. W. Jones, Mr. J. T. du Pyles, Mr. E. W. V. Kuehn and Mr. R. B. Maxwell, all of the United States.

His text was: "God hath made of one blood all nations of men, for to dwell upon the face of the earth; and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitations, that they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after Him and find Him." (Acts xvii, 26, 27.) He said:—

My text is taken from Saint Paul's address to the Athenians, whom he found so religious that they had erected an idol to every known deity, and then one prominently "to the unknown God." The words of my text have been repeatedly borne in upon my mind in my sojournings of the past four months. I marveled as I perceived the thoroughness of the division of the human family as a result of the confusion of language.

Conditions Now Changing.

It should not surprise us to find at this time great changes imminent amongst the peoples of the whole world. The bounds of human habitation and the barriers of language are rapidly yielding because of the times of Divine appointment which have been reached, the period mentioned in Daniel's prophecy as "The Time of the End." (Daniel xii, 4.) And here we must remind you afresh that The Time of the End does not mean the end of time. It merely signifies the time for the ending of the present order of things, that a New Order, the Messianic Kingdom, may be substituted. Twenty-five centuries ago God determined this time and gave us four important proofs by which to identify it.

(1) The first sign of The Time of the End was to be, "Many shall run to and fro." How wonderfully this prophecy is fulfilled before our eyes today! Its fulfilment has been in progress, especially, for fifty years, and it is less than eighty years since the first locomotive was built. The nations, first separated by diverse languages, have kept well within the bounds of their habitations until now; suddenly we have a running to and fro in fulfilment of this prophecy which is amazing! The various nations and languages are being scattered all over the earth.

(2) The next sign in the prophecy marking The Time of the End of this Age is "Knowledge shall be increased." The general increase of education amongst all classes is a logical result of the overlapping of humanity and the lessons of competition and comparison being learned. Suddenly, as though in obedience to the Divine command, nation after nation has made schooling free; and more, have made it compulsory; and this spirit is spreading to Oriental lands. The whole world is waking up! Personal rights and national rights are everywhere being discussed. The schools of India are said to be turning out a million graduates in the English language every year. The Chinese also are introducing English schools. What will be the results? Enlightenment? Yes! Godliness? No! Contentment? No! Dissatisfaction, war, strife, anarchy, are coming to the world by leaps and bounds, as a result of general education and the breath of liberty, because not backed by reverence for God and His will.

These Days Will Be Shortened.

(3) The third item indicative of The Time of the End of this Age is: "The wise shall understand," not the worldly-wise, but those wise toward God. And so we find it today. While the great and the learned and the masses are rapidly drifting into heathenish darkness, away from the Bible, God's saintly few, of every nation and denomination, are gradually seeing more clearly the teachings of the Scriptures.

(4) As a result of the fulfilments of Nos. 1 and 2, we see nearing us, portentously, No. 4: "There shall be a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation." That time of trouble is now looming up on the horizon of every nation. It comes in the wake of an unsanctified knowledge. It would mean the utter wreck of all civilization were it not for the interposition of the Kingdom of God's dear Son, for which we have long waited and prayed, "Thy Kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as in heaven." Our Lord, speaking of this trouble, declared, "Unless those days were shortened there should no flesh be saved; but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened"—because of the "elect," and the Kingdom which they will establish, that "time of trouble" will be cut short. Dan. xii, 1; Matt. xxiv, 21, 22.

Cutting.

The Thin One—"And do you really roll around the floor once a day for the sake of losing a few pounds? Wonder what would happen if I tried it?" The Fat One—"Oh, you'd just cut the carpet."—Puck.

Do Away With the Blues.

Well, now, when all is said and done, after you recovered from that last fit of blues, did it do you, or anyone else, any good to have it? Make that last fit the last one.

(1) The first sign of The Time of the End was to be, "Many shall run to and fro." How wonderfully this prophecy is fulfilled before our eyes today! Its fulfilment has been in progress, especially, for fifty years, and it is less than eighty years since the first locomotive was built. The nations, first separated by diverse languages, have kept well within the bounds of their habitations until now; suddenly we have a running to and fro in fulfilment of this prophecy which is amazing! The various nations and languages are being scattered all over the earth.

(2) The next step in the prophecy marking The Time of the End of this Age is "Knowledge shall be increased." The general increase of education amongst all classes is a logical result of the commingling of humanity and the lessons of comparison and competition being learned. Suddenly, as though in obedience to the Divine command, nation after nation has made schooling free; and more, have made it compulsory; and this spirit is spreading to Oriental lands. The whole world is waking up! Personal rights and national rights are everywhere being discussed. The schools of India are said to be turning out a million graduates in the English language every year. The Chinese also are introducing English schools. What will be the results? Enlightenment? Yes! Godliness? No! Contentment? No! Dissatisfaction, war, strife, anarchy, are coming to the world by leaps and bounds, as a result of general education and the breath of liberty, because not backed by reverence for God and His will.

Those Days Will Be Shortened.

(3) The third item indicative of The Time of the End of this Age is: "The wise shall understand;" not the worldly-wise, but those wise toward God. And so we find it today. While the great and the learned and the masses are rapidly drifting into heathenish darkness, away from the Bible, God's saintly few, of every nation and denomination, are gradually seeing more clearly the teachings of the Scriptures.

(4) As a result of the fulfilments of Nos. 1 and 2, we see nearing us, portentously, No. 4: "There shall be a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation." That time of trouble is now looming up on the horizon of every nation. It comes in the wake of an unsanctified knowledge. It would mean the utter wreck of all civilization were it not for the interposition of the Kingdom of God's dear Son, for which we have long waited and prayed, "Thy Kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as in heaven." Our Lord, speaking of this trouble, declared, "Unless those days were shortened there should no flesh be saved; but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened"—because of the "elect," and the Kingdom which they will establish, that "time of trouble" will be cut short. Dan. xii. 1; Matt. xxiv, 21, 22.

Cutting.

The Thin One—"And do you really roll around the floor once a day for the sake of losing a few pounds? Wonder what would happen if I tried it?" The Fat One—"Oh, you'd just cut the carpet."—Puck.

Do Away With the Blues.

Well, now, when all is said and done, after you recovered from that last fit of blues, did it do you, or anyone else, any good to have it? Make that last fit the last one.

Yacht Hiawatha for charter, $2.00 a day. Prince George dock. 10-26

Fred G. Clarke of the Jungle Studio, returned Saturday evening from a several days' business trip to St. Augustine.

Encouraged by the meetings of the Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign of last week, union meetings will be continued every evening at 7:30 at the First M. E. church. The campaign closed Sunday with a large mass meeting in the afternoon and a big attendance in the evening.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, over the remains of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Wilder, whose death was noted in Friday's issue of the Daily News. A large number of friends and acquaintances gathered at the residence on South Beach street, to pay their last respects to one of Daytona's well known early settlers. The impressive Episcopal burial service was used, Rev. Robt. A. Tufft, rector of St. Mary's church, conducting the service and a selection from St. Cecilia Mass, a favorite with Mrs. Wilder, was played by the Palmetto orchestra. There was a great profusion of beautiful flowers. The remains were placed in the receiving vault at Pinewood cemetery, to be taken north later for interment in the family lot in beautiful Spring Grove cemetery at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Care of the Eyes.

If a woman has the slightest difficulty with her sight, she should lose no time in consulting an oculist. Nothing will bring undesirable crows' feet more quickly than straining the eyes, and local treatment to prevent the lines will be inefficacious if the seat of the trouble is not attended to. It is far better to wear glasses when sewing and writing than to let the whole face have a drawn and aged look.

Of course, massaging about the corners of the eyes will make a tremendous improvement in a woman's appearance, but the work will be without results unless she does it regularly every night. Also, if she is trying to smooth away crows' feet, she must remember that stroking is not to be done so severely as to loosen the skin, which would cause looseness, but merely that friction is to stimulate circulation, nourishing the skin tissues.

Economy of Nature.

"Nature knew what she was doing when she deprived fishes of a voice."

"How do you make that out?"

"What if a fish had to cackle over every egg it laid?"

No Growth.

Maybe the man who boasts that he doesn't owe a dollar in the world couldn't if he tried.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Impervious to Hard Knocks.

All stories about the hard heads of negroes' skulls were put into the background by two happenings which occurred the other day. Following a quarrel, a negro, Henry Lewis, was shot four times in the head at a range of less than five feet. After penetrating the flesh the bullets flattened and dropped to the floor. The man was taken to hospital, but was soon permitted to go to his home. His assailant escaped. Another colored man, William Peffer, while harnessing a mule, was kicked on the head and knocked down. Getting to his feet, he discovered the mule lying on the ground. Examination showed that its leg was broken. Peffer was taken to the Germantown hospital, where six stitches were put in his scalp.—Philadelphia Ledger.

JUST GOSSIP
BY THE GOSSIPER.

There is a certain class of persons in this world who would commit most any kind of a high crime were it not for the fear of detection. This same class is ever ready to attribute ulterior motives to others. To this class the Daily News begs to say that the announcement on the front page Saturday in reference to the proposed street car franchise was a paid advertisement and so labeled. The same space is open to anyone else at the same price. The advertising space of a newspaper is its stock in trade, the same as is a shelf of goods the stock of a merchant.

The cry of the chuck-will's-widow is now heard almost any time after nightfall. This bird corresponds to the whip-poor-will of the northern states and it is thought by many its cry is an indication of continued warm weather and that no damage is to be feared from frost after once it be heard calling to its mate in the springtime. It is silent through the winter months.

There is a growing complaint of the roller skating now being done on the cement pavements of the city, the complaint probably increasing proportionately with the use of the pavements for this purpose. The children are certainly having a good time racing around the city on their skates, but many of them are not old enough to display good judgment as to how and where to skate and the pedestrians of Waycross and Midway are beginning to join in the melee. If skaters are to be allowed the use of the sidewalks, it would be well at least to keep them off Beach street as much as possible, for accidents are almost sure to result from skating on the more congested blocks of this street.

Why We Shake Hands.

A writer in the New York Sun has unearthed the following explanation of a common custom:

How many of us, for instance, know why friends shake hands when they meet? The Chinese are said to shake their own hands in greeting, with an air of cordial delight. Why do people of the so-called civilized nations prefer to shake each other by the hand? We are told that it is an old Roman custom, spread by the Romans throughout the countries of their dominion. Shaking hands means, "You are my friend. Believe it for the excellent reason that if you were not I should draw my sword. And how could I draw my sword with my shield upon my left arm and my right hand firmly clasped in yours?" So when we shake hands we are merely saying in the pantomime of ancient Rome: "There is peace and good will between us, for our swords are in their scabbards."

THREE BUILDERS OF NATIONS

Cavour, William the Silent and George Washington Never Yielded to Despotic Ideals.

As a nation-maker Cavour stands with William the Silent and George Washington. Each of these men fought through the agony of a war of liberation, yet never yielded for a moment to the militarist or despotic ideals so liable to be bred in time of crisis; each loved free institutions with his whole heart; each could have said as truly as William the Silent, "I was always on the side of the people;" yet each avoided the special faults of the demagogue as completely as Wellington or Peel; each planted justice and mercy amid the chaos of wrath and revolution; each kept an heroic equanimity of temper toward all their supporters, even toward the foolish and the false who bade fair to ruin their work; finally, each died leaving as his handiwork a nation whose every merit is symbolized in the life of the man who made it, whose every defect is due to the tradition which he started being too lofty for imitation. If Americans can boast that America is more true to the traditions of Washington than Italy is true to the traditions of Cavour, they may be sure that their country is reaping the benefit in due proportion. Measures and policies and constitutions must change with changing times, but the spirit that inspires a just policy is the same in the eighteenth, the nineteenth, and the twentieth centuries.—George Macaulay Trevelyan, in the Atlantic.

KNEW HIM AND LOVED HIM

Dr. Courtenay, Mutilated Veteran of the Confederate Army, as He Was in Tippah.

Dr. Courtenay entered the Confederate army as a surgeon, and after the surrender found himself without home, family, or fortune. His right coat-sleeve dangled empty; the hand that had saved so many lives could not save itself. It had been amputated after Gettysburg, and the story goes that Lee himself—the name is always pronounced slowly and reverently in Tippah—had said, "I wish I could give my hand to save yours, doctor." Another loss, equally grave, but less conspicuous, was that of his left lung. It was this trouble that had brought him to Tippah's mild climate, for nearly 20 years he had lived there alone in his three-room cottage, riding out every day to his little farm, two miles from town, and reading and smoking far into the night. His library was the wonder of Tippah. Books in five languages lined the walls of his house—all in the cheapest bindings, for the doctor was poor; but, as he used to say, it was the meat in the nut he cared for, not the shell outside. He never practiced medicine, except occasionally among persons too poor to pay for medical advice, or, more frequently, in serious cases when called in consultation. It was known that he had never taken a fee in Tippah. Every one believed implicitly in his skill. It was a common thing to hear it said, after a death, "Nothing could have saved him; Dr. Courtenay said so."—Lilian Kirk Hammond in the Atlantic.

CHILDREN A RECENT FIND

Not Before the Nineteenth Century Were They Truthfully Portrayed in Literature.

Children were only found yesterday. Before the nineteenth century the child mind and the child heart were not supposed to have enough in them to interest the majestic adult. It is true that you find a delightful baby in Homer, that in Virgil there is the prettiest glimpse of a little girl, and up and down in the classics you may meet half a dozen other pleasant shadows of children. But they are only shadows, only at the most charming pictures. They give you much as if they were painting or sculpture—for in children's bodies art has always had interest enough—only what a child looks like, the pretty weakness, the instinct for play, the naive gesture and movement. Not till the "return to nature," not till the spirit of romance moved on the waters at the end of the eighteenth century, do you find poets beginning to tell of the thought and faith in a child's mind, the mysteries of the child's heart, the fancies that are dreams and the fancies that are visions. You may think that they have gone too far, that they read into childhood the laborious philosophizing and sometimes the labored sentimentality of the adult. But no one who loves children will deny that the best of the children in nineteenth century books have a far richer reality, a far fuller life than any that were born in early works. And some of the best are in Dickens.—London Telegraph.

To Preserve Old Photographs.

One way to preserve old photographs is as follows: Put the photographs into clean, hot water; very soon the pictures loosen and may be easily removed from the cards. When dry, either trim down, to economize space, or carefully cut away the background entirely. Mount them in a scrap book or a book made especially for kodak pictures. You will then have a book with which you can spend many happy moments looking over familiar scenes and faces.—National Magazine.

PREDECESSORS OF CAPT. LUX

Colonel Sussaier, General Zurlinden and Others Have Escaped From Prisons in Germany.

About a dozen precedents for the escape of Captain Lux from his German prison can be found in the history of the Franco-German war, and a large proportion of the heroes of them lived to become famous.

A notable case was that of General (then colonel) Sussaier, ultimately commander-in-chief of the French army, who was detained at Graudenz, in the extreme east of Prussia. It is said that he put his bolster to bed instead of himself, hid in an obscure corner of the fortress until nightfall, and then, having obtained a disguise by the help of his orderly, was allowed to walk out of the main prison gate.

He crossed the frontier to Poland and returned to France by way of Austria and Italy.

General Zurlinden was another prisoner who got out of his prison at Glogau in Silesia, on Christmas eve. He made his way in disguise through Berlin, Frankfort and Karlsruhe to Basel, a feat which was not difficult for him, as, being an Alsatian, he spoke German quite as well as his jailers.

Thirdly, we may note the experiences of M. Paul Deroulede, who escaped from Breslau, and it is piquant to recall that that vehement anti-Semite did not disdain to disguise himself as a Polish Jew. He was very nearly betrayed by a peasant whom he had bribed to guide him into Bohemia; but he drew his knife with a ferocious gesture and the peasant changed his mind, with the result that M. Deroulede saw the final fights of the war as a sub-lieutenant of Turcos.

But they are only shadows, only at the most charming pictures. They give you much as if they were painting or sculpture—for in children's bodies art has always had interest enough—only what a child looks like, the pretty weakness, the instinct for play, the naive gesture and movement. Not till the "return to nature," not till the spirit of romance moved on the waters at the end of the eighteenth century, do you find poets beginning to tell of the thought and faith in a child's mind, the mysteries of the child's heart, the fancies that are dreams and the fancies that are visions. You may think that they have gone too far, that they read into childhood the laborious philosophizing and sometimes the labored sentimentality of the adult. But no one who loves children will deny that the best of the children in nineteenth century books have a far richer reality, a far fuller life than any that were born in early works. And some of the best are in Dickens.—London Telegraph.

To Preserve Old Photographs.

One way to preserve old photographs is as follows: Put the photographs into clean, hot water; very soon the pictures loosen and may be easily removed from the cards. When dry, either trim down, to economize space, or carefully cut away the background entirely. Mount them in a scrap book or a book made especially for kodak pictures. You will then have a book with which you can spend many happy moments looking over familiar scenes and faces.—National Magazine.

PREDECESSORS OF CAPT. LUX

Colonel Saussier, General Zurlinden and Others Have Escaped From Prisons in Germany.

About a dozen precedents for the escape of Captain Lux from his German prison can be found in the history of the Franco-German war, and a large proportion of the heroes of them lived to become famous.

A notable case was that of General (then colonel) Saussier, ultimately commander-in-chief of the French army, who was detained at Grandens, in the extreme east of Prussia. It is said that he put his bolster to bed instead of himself, hid in an obscure corner of the fortress until nightfall, and then, having obtained a disguise by the help of his orderly, was allowed to walk out of the main prison gate.

He crossed the frontier to Poland and returned to France by way of Austria and Italy.

General Zurlinden was another prisoner who got out of his prison at Glogan in Silesia, on Christmas eve. He made his way in disguise through Berlin, Frankfort and Karlsruhe to Basel, a feast which was not difficult for him, as, being an Alsatian, he spoke German quite as well as his jailers.

Thirdly, we may note the experiences of M. Paul Deroulede, who escaped from Breslau, and it is piquant to recall that that vehement anti-Semite did not disdain to disguise himself as a Polish Jew. He was very nearly betrayed by a peasant whom he had bribed to guide him into Bohemia; but he drew his knife with a ferocious gesture and the peasant changed his mind, with the result that M. Deroulede saw the final fights of the war as a sub-lieutenant of Turcos.
